Australian regional construction outlook

Forecasting service

What is the outlook for building and construction in each of the major regions in Australia?

How much does the outlook vary amongst regions within each state?

Which sectors will have the greatest impact in each region?

Australian regional construction outlook takes a closer look at all of the regional construction markets in Australia.

This report is critical for organisations making strategic decisions and undertaking planning on a regional basis.

The report contains five years of historical data, as well as annual forecasts for five years. Data is in real work done terms (constant 2014/15 prices). An extensive list of tables and charts is provided, with each construction sub-sector split by region.

Project listings are provided for each region for non-residential building and engineering construction. Selected approvals value data is also provided for the residential market.

The report is published twice per year. Updated tables may be provided at other times upon request.

Report format

Subscribers receive a report document, data in Excel format and charts in Powerpoint format.
